Why join

A community for women who are serious about where they're going.

We don't run "networking happy hours." We run gatherings, programs, and one-on-one introductions that move careers forward — with people who understand the rooms you're trying to walk into.

01 / Access

Get in the right rooms.

Our events bring together founders, investors, and executives across every corner of financial services. Every gathering is curated to create real connections — not another happy hour.

02 / Recognition

Be seen and recognized.

From our annual Inspiring FinTech Females program to speaking opportunities on industry panels, we create visibility for women doing meaningful work in this space.

03 / Support

Find support for wherever you are.

Whether you're job searching, building a company, or growing into a leadership role, our community offers mentorship, coaching, co-founder matching, and peers who understand you.

For partners & sponsors

Put your brand in front of the industry's most talented people.

NYC Fintech Women is a community of 5,000+ professionals across financial services and fintech. We partner with organizations committed to showing up for this community in a meaningful way — whether that's event space, sponsoring a panel, or connecting with top talent.

OUR MISSION

This community exists because the industry wasn't built for us. We're changing it from within.

The number of women leading, building, and investing in financial services has grown — but the structural barriers, the missing connections, and the rooms women still aren't in haven't disappeared on their own.

NYC Fintech Women is a substantive network where careers get accelerated and ambitions get taken seriously. If you're ready to build your real career in a real community with likeminded women — this is where you start.
